UNESCO Information for All Programme (IFAP)

IFAP was established by UNESCO to provide a framework for international cooperation and partnerships in building an inclusive information society. IFAP is aimed at ensuring to all people universal access to information that might be used for improving their quality of life. IFAP Intergovernmental Council comprising 26 Member States is elected to guide the Programme in its planning and implementation. IFAP goal is to assist the development of national information policies framework. Five IFAP priority lines of actions are information accessibility, information preservation, information literacy, information ethics and information for development.

Russian Committee of the UNESCO Information for All Programme

Russian Committee of the UNESCO Information for All Programme was established in 2000 under the Commission of the Russian Federation for UNESCO and Ministry of Culture of the Russian Federation and became the first national committee ever. Committee members represent government agencies, educational, research, cultural and communication establishments, public organizations and business sector. The Committee provides assistance in implementing the Programme's ideas, tasks, concepts and priority lines of actions at both national and international levels. It participates in the advancement of policies and legislation in the fields of culture, education, communication and information for the purpose of building inclusive information society / knowledge societies. The Committee contributes to the preparation of analytic reports and elaboration of practical guidelines, to the establishment of the best practice centres and to the improvement of activities of various institutions within its competence.

Interregional Library Cooperation Centre

NGO Interregional Library Cooperation Centre (ILCC), established in 1995, is the working body of the Russian Committee of the UNESCO Information for All Programme. In addition to contributing to the IFAP implementation, ILCC participates in (a) drafting and implementing in Russia the governmental library policy and national programmes aimed to preserve library collections; (b) developing All-Russian public centres of legal and other socially meaningful information; (c) reading promotion; (d) advancing professional library training and (e) developing multilingualism in cyberspace. On a regular basis, ILCC drafts, publishes and disseminates information and methodological materials on the development of librarianship, culture and information policy.

International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions

International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions (IFLA) is the leading international body representing the interests of library and information services and their users. IFLA was founded in 1927, and got official status in 1971. The Federation's key goal is to develop international cooperation in the field of librarianship by fostering international interaction between library specialists and their associations. IFLA activities are aimed at promoting high standards of provision and delivery of library and information services, encouraging widespread understanding of the value and importance of high-level services.
